Mrs. Starr-Thomas

Kirkpatrick Icon Retires

By William Grundy

At the end of this school year, Ms. Dollye Starr-Thomas, our 6th grade Science Teacher will retire.

Ms. Starr-Thomas is a true icon at our school. She spent half of her 37 year teaching career here at Kirkpatrick. She is known and loved not only by our current students, but also by their parents, many of whom were also her students. She is unique in many ways, but perhaps the most striking is that she attended school in this very building from her first grade year through graduation from high school.

Kirkpatrick Middle School was a segregated, African Americans only, school during Ms. Starr-Thomas' attendance. She has many fond memories of her time here both as a teacher and a student. She remembers a juke box in the cafeteria which allowed the students to have sock hops in the mornings and at lunch time. She remembers sports, talent shows, playing in the band, and being voted Miss Kirkpatrick in 1961. To all of us, who will miss her dearly, she will forever be Miss Kirkpatrick! She is truly part of the living history of our school.

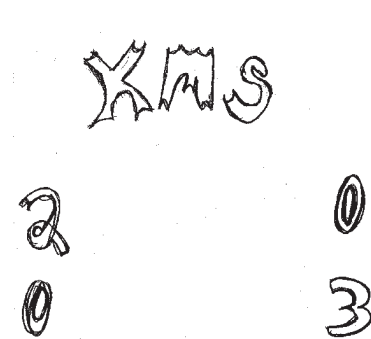

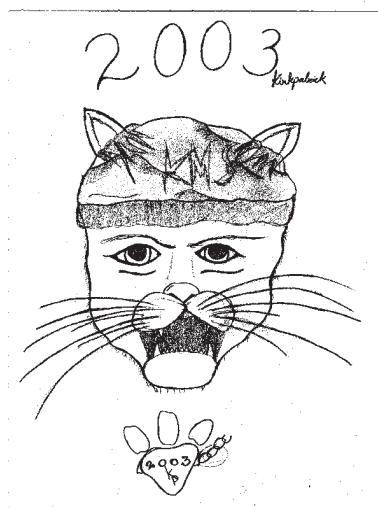

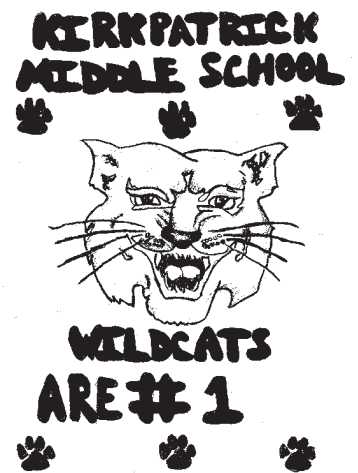

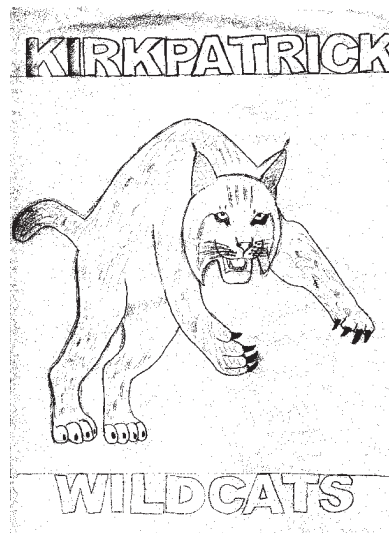

Ms. Starr-Thomas is a graduate of Lincoln University. She began her teaching career in Gary, Indiana, and taught science, and physical education, and coached athletics and cheerleading during her long and illustrious career. She touched the lives of countless students, and we will all miss her greatly.
